With its original passage in November 1990, Measure K began laying the groundwork for two decades of funding for a system of improved highways and local streets, new passenger rail service, regional and inter-regional bus routes, park-and-ride lots, new bicycle facilities, and railroad crossings. Its innovative multimodal approach to transportation clearly distinguishes Measure K from other countywide sales tax programs.

On November 7, 2006, San Joaquin County voters decided to extend Measure K for an additional 30 years. The renewal of Measure K is estimated to generate $2.99 billion for transportation programs throughout the county.

Specific Projects and Percentages

Measure K was designed to fund transportation improvement projects in four major areas - local street repairs and roadway safety (35%), congestion relief projects (32.5%), railroad crossing safety projects (2.5%), and passenger rail, bus, and bicycles (30%), which includes dedicated funding for bus rapid transit, and safe routes to schools.
Promises Kept
We want to thank our voters for their support for Measure K and the programs it funds. For the past 24 years, Measure K has kept its promises to you by improving freeways, streets, roads, and transit networks throughout the county. Everywhere you look, you can see the results of Measure K! Our commitment to you and to excellence in transportation improvements continues.

Moving Forward
The overwhelming support for Measure K represents a strong vote of confidence for the San Joaquin Council of Governments, which administers all aspects of the Measure programs. Before it sunsets in 2035, Measure K will generate nearly $3.5 billion for the advancement and delivery of many local and regional transportation projects. SJCOG will keep fulfulling the promises of safer, faster, and more efficient transportation solutions for San Joaquin County.

Measure K’s wide range of comprehensive transportation improvements includes:

- State highway improvements
- Special transportation services for seniors and persons with disabilities
- Altamont Commuter Express rail service expansions
- Construction and maintenance of city streets and county roads
- Construction of railroad crossing safety improvements
- Economic incentives to encourage smart growth in San Joaquin County
